

Innovative Teaching Award

Innovative Teaching Award

The John S. Kendall Center for Engaged Learning and the Provost's Office would like to recognize faculty who are engaged in innovative teaching (e.g., new uses of instructional technology, new ways to engage students in the learning process, new approaches to student collaboration, or new methods for improving student learning outcomes) and to encourage the dissemination of effective practices by sharing promising innovations with faculty more broadly. Therefore, they have created the Innovative Teaching Award that includes campus-wide recognition as well as a $1000 prize.

Criteria

The criteria for the Innovative Teaching Award include:

- Rationale for the development and use of the innovative teaching methods.
- Clearly articulated description of innovative teaching methods.
- Evidence that innovative teaching methods were effective.

Call for Nominations

Faculty members are encouraged to self-nominate, but nominations may also be submitted by colleagues and students. Completed nominations should not exceed 2 pages and should be emailed to innovate@gustavus.edu. The nomination should include the nominee's name, department, and a narrative that clearly addresses the criteria above as well as the contact information for the nominator if different from the nominee.

Deadline

Nominations must be received by 5pm on February 19th, 2016.

Contact

For more information or questions, please contact Kyle Chambers (kchamber@gustavus.edu), Excellence in Teaching Faculty Associate in the John S. Kendall Center for Engaged Learning.