ABSTRACT:

The North Central Study Committee consists of a study done by the North Central Study Committee at Gustavus Adolphus College during the 1952-53 academic year. It includes surveys concerning the presence of religion on campus, what teachers think of veterans, and how international students are treated. The committee also examined courses offered, requirements for graduation, and scheduling policies. In addition, some documents from the school concerning policies on attendance, clothing, dancing, and other areas of interest are included.
